1. INTRODUCTION

In compliance with the provisions of Law 1581 of 2012, Decree 1377 of 2013, Law 1266 of 2008 – with regard to the processing of personal data for credit or financial purposes – and the other regulations that modify, add or complement them, ADAMO S.A.S. (hereinafter "ADAMO") adopts this Personal Data Processing Policy, in order to establish the principles, purposes, rights, mechanisms and procedures applicable to the processing of personal information collected in the development of its commercial, contractual and technological activities.

This policy is mandatory for ADAMO in its capacity as Data Controller and/or Data Processor, and will apply to all activities of collection, storage, use, circulation, deletion, transmission or transfer of personal data, both in physical and digital environments. It expressly includes the processing carried out through the institutional website <https://adamoservices.co>, the associated technological platforms (including ADAMO ID, ADAMO PAY, ADAMO SIGN and ADAMO RISK), derived digital channels and any other infrastructure enabled by ADAMO for the provision of its services.

3. OF THE CONTROLLER AND DATA PROCESSOR:

As a general rule, ADAMO S.A.S. will act as the Data Controller of personal data when it collects such information directly, in the development of its commercial, contractual, administrative, operational or service provision activities. This condition applies particularly in scenarios where ADAMO autonomously determines the purposes and means of the processing, in accordance with the provisions of Law 1581 of 2012, Decree 1377 of 2013, Law 1266 of 2008 and other complementary regulations.

In the case of data processing in jurisdictions other than Colombia, these data will be validated in compliance with the requirements established in the law, applying the principles of equivalence and reciprocity at the international level provided that they are jurisdictions with an adequate level, based on the analysis of the category of the data, specific purposes of processing, security measures and mechanisms of reversal and deletion. The foregoing applies without prejudice to the degree of responsibility for the processing of the data.

The contact information of the Controller is as follows:

Company name: ADAMO S.A.S. NIT: 9014662591-1 Address: Pereira, Colombia
Address: Carrera 16 Bis #8-24, Oko Tower Building, 6th Floor Contact Email:
dataprotection@adamoservices.co Phone: +57 321 626 5361

However, when ADAMO provides technological services through its digital solutions – such as ADAMO ID, ADAMO PAY, ADAMO SIGN or ADAMO RISK – within the framework of a B2B model in which personal data is provided by a business customer (and not collected directly by ADAMO), the company will act as a Data Processor, in accordance with the provisions of Article 3 (e) of Law 1581 of 2012.

In such events, ADAMO will carry out the processing of personal data exclusively on behalf of the Client, under its documented instructions, and subject to the purposes previously defined and authorized by the Data Controllers. The Client will retain the status of Data Controller at all times, being the only one obliged to guarantee the lawfulness of the processing, including:

- The valid obtaining of the prior, express and informed consent of the Owner;
- Authorization for the processing of sensitive data, if applicable;
- Authorisation for the international transfer of personal data, where applicable;
- The custody of the evidentiary support of said authorization.
- The custody of the information during the term of the contract concluded.

a. About the role of Data Processor in B2B Services

In certain scenarios, ADAMO will act as the Processor of Personal Data, in accordance with the provisions of Law 1581 of 2012 and its regulatory standards. This situation arises, for example, when ADAMO provides technological services such as identity validation, multi-biometric authentication, risk analysis, traceability or digital processing of operations, to companies that contract its solutions through the B2B relationship model. In these cases, personal data is not collected directly by ADAMO, but is delivered by its corporate clients, who in turn have obtained it from their own end users based on contractual relationships and authorizations previously granted.

Consequently, ADAMO processes said data on behalf of the Client, under its documented instructions, and strictly subject to the purposes previously defined by the latter. The Client, in its capacity as Data Controller, will be the one who determines the scope, purpose and means of the processing, and who must guarantee that it has validly obtained the prior, express and informed consent of the owners, including any additional authorization required for international transmissions or sensitive processing.

In order to properly regulate this legal relationship, ADAMO will sign a Personal Data Transfer Agreement with the Responsible Party, in compliance with the provisions of Article 25 of Decree 1377 of 2013. This contract will specify the authorized purposes, the obligations assumed by ADAMO as the Data Processor, the applicable security and confidentiality measures, the guidelines on cross-border data processing, as well as the mechanisms for responding to incidents or requirements from the owners or control authorities. This contract constitutes an essential condition for the authorization and provision of ADAMO's services under the role of Processor, and will be required in all cases in which the processing is carried out on behalf of a third party.

4. METHODS OF PROCESSING PERSONAL DATA

ADAMO S.A.S. informs the Owners that the processing of their personal data may include operations of collection, storage, use, circulation, analysis, transmission, transfer and deletion, in accordance with the previously authorized purposes and under the principles established in Law 1581 of 2012. The specific modalities are detailed below:

Access to information is restricted through the use of protected credentials, permission segmentation, session control, and other authentication and traceability mechanisms. ADAMO implements reasonable technical, administrative, and organizational security measures to protect the integrity and confidentiality of personal data, in accordance with the security principle established in Law 1581 of 2012.

The storage of the data will be subject to the validity of the contract signed with the client. Once the term has expired, ADAMO will comply with the process of deleting the personal data collected.

- To transfer personal data to third parties located in Colombia or abroad, provided that there is express authorization from the Owner or that any of the exceptions provided for in the law are configured.

In no event shall transmissions or transfers be made that are not supported by a valid contractual agreement, or that compromise the security and confidentiality of the information.

4.5. Deletion

The deletion of personal data will be carried out when:

- The purpose that gave rise to the processing is exhausted;
- It is requested by the Owner and there is no legal or contractual duty of conservation;
- The term of the contract entered into expires, exceeds the legal or regulatory term for document conservation.

The deletion may be total or partial, and will be carried out by means of secure mechanisms that prevent the subsequent recovery of the information.

5. RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF THE OWNER:

By virtue of the provisions of Article 8 of Law 1581 of 2012, and other concordant regulations, the Owners of personal data processed by ADAMO S.A.S. enjoy a set of fundamental rights, and also acquire essential duties regarding the responsible handling of their own information. The following are details:

5.1. Rights of the Owner

Data Controllers may exercise the following rights free of charge, subject to any legal and contractual limitations that may apply in specific contexts:

to. Right of access. Consult at any time the personal data that are processed by ADAMO, as well as know the origin, purpose, use, conservation and recipients of these.

b. Right to update and rectify. Request the correction, updating or supplementation of inaccurate, incomplete, fragmented or misleading data, as well as those whose processing is prohibited or has not been validly authorised.

c. Right to erasure (right to be forgotten). Request the total or partial deletion of personal data when:

- The purpose that justified its processing has ceased;
- The authorization is revoked;
- There is a judicial or administrative order to that effect. Deletion shall not be admissible when there is a legal or contractual duty that obliges its conservation.

d. Right to revoke consent. Withdraw at any time the authorisation granted for the processing of your data, provided that there is no legal or contractual impediment. The revocation may be total or partial, in relation to one or more specific purposes.

and. The right to be informed about the use of your data. Request clear, complete and understandable explanations about the processing, purpose, storage period, transmission or transfer channels, and applicable security measures.

f. Right to request proof of authorization. Require a copy of the physical or electronic document or any equivalent mechanism by which you have given your consent, except in the exceptional cases provided for by law.

g. Right to file complaints with the supervisory authority. File claims or complaints with the Superintendence of Industry and Commerce (SIC) for alleged violations of the rules on personal data protection. The exercise of this right does not exclude other judicial means.

h. Right to data portability. Request, when technically and legally feasible, the delivery of personal data in a structured, common and interoperable format, for transmission to another controller.

i. Right to object. Object to the processing of your data when it is not mandatory or when there are well-founded and legitimate reasons related to a specific personal situation. This right shall not apply in cases of legal or contractually required processing.

5.2. Duties of the Owner

Just as the law grants rights, it imposes on the Owner the following duties with respect to the responsible use of their information:

- Provide truthful, updated, complete and verifiable information, and refrain from providing third-party data without authorization.
- To update your personal data in a timely manner when relevant changes are made, ensuring that the information processed by ADAMO is accurate and adequate.
- Responsibly use the channels provided by ADAMO for queries, complaints or data updates.
- Do not impersonate identities or provide false or fraudulent information that may affect the rights of third parties or regulatory compliance.

- Refrain from using the right of habeas data as an abusive, fraudulent mechanism or to hinder the legitimate exercise of functions by the Responsible or Person in Charge.

6. PURPOSES OF PROCESSING PERSONAL DATA

The processing of personal data by ADAMO S.A.S., whether in its capacity as Data Controller or Data Processor, will be carried out in accordance with the principles of legality, purpose, freedom, truthfulness, transparency, restricted access, security and confidentiality. The purposes are structured according to the legal basis that supports them, with the aim of guaranteeing the lawfulness, proportionality and relevance of the use of personal information.

6.1. Purposes necessary for the execution of contractual or pre-contractual relationships

ADAMO will process the personal data of the Data Controllers when there is a direct legal relationship or when it is in the process of being formed, in order to enable the execution of contracts or services requested by the Data Controllers themselves. In this sense, treatment will focus on activities such as:

The registration, validation and authentication of the Account Holder within the technological platforms operated by ADAMO – including ADAMO ID, PAY, SIGN and RISK – as well as the comprehensive management of the life cycle of the relationship with the user, from the opening of the account to the end of the contractual relationship. To this end, identity may be verified through biometric technologies, proof of life, document scanning or technical geolocation limited to access control.

Likewise, ADAMO will use personal data to provide technical support, process payments, issue invoices, manage the handling of requests or complaints, and internally administer the operation of the service offered, without this implying unauthorized advertising or analytical purposes.

6.2. Purposes based on the legitimate interest of the Data Controller

In addition to contractual performance, ADAMO may process certain personal data based on its legitimate interest, provided that such interest is compatible with the rights of the Owner and does not require additional consent. In these cases, the processing will be limited to actions such as:

The statistical analysis of user behavior with the purpose of improving the digital experience, preventing fraud, evaluating the performance of platforms, strengthening cybersecurity controls or monitoring possible operational incidents. ADAMO will also keep certain information once the relationship with the user has ended, only for purposes compatible with those initially authorised, such as traceability, auditing or contact in the event of future events that may be of interest to you and that are related to the previously existing link.

6.3. Purposes that require prior, express and informed consent

For certain activities, ADAMO may only process personal data when the Owner has granted a specific, clear and separate consent from the general consent. This group includes purposes such as:

The sending of advertising messages, newsletters, invitations to commercial events, loyalty surveys or promotions by electronic means. Similarly, when ADAMO intends to share data with strategic partners that offer products related to alternative financing, digital services or personalized benefits, it must have the prior consent of the Owner.

In addition, if geolocation, biometrics, or advanced segmentation information is processed for commercial or analytical profiling purposes, this may only be done if it has been expressly authorized by the Owner through verifiable and transparent means.

6.4. Purposes derived from the fulfilment of legal or administrative obligations

In compliance with the law, ADAMO may process personal data without the need for authorization, when such processing is required to meet contractual, regulatory, accounting, tax or institutional control obligations. This includes, among other activities:

The conservation of data in accordance with deadlines established by accounting and tax standards, the response to requirements of administrative or judicial authorities, such as the Superintendence of Industry and Commerce or the DIAN, and the preparation of reports before inspection, surveillance or risk center agencies, in accordance with the provisions of Law 1266 of 2008, in the event of non-compliance with obligations by the Account Holders.

6.5. Purposes associated with the transmission or transfer of personal data

Finally, ADAMO may share personal data with third parties in their capacity as Data Processors or Data Controllers, as the case may be, when there is a legal or contractual authorization or an express authorization by the Owner.

This includes the transmission of information to technology providers that provide processing, authentication, storage or technical support services on behalf of ADAMO, within or outside the national territory, under contractual clauses that guarantee the protection and confidentiality of the information.

Likewise, the transfer of data may be carried out to third party Controllers acting independently, provided that the receiving country offers adequate levels of protection, or valid legal mechanisms are used to ensure the legality of such transfer, in accordance with Article 26 of Law 1581 of 2012.

Within the framework of its contractual, commercial and technological operations, ADAMO S.A.S. will process -among others- the following categories of personal data, in accordance with the purposes and channels described above. These data are considered sensitive and will be processed with the authorization of the Owner, in accordance with Article 6 of Law 1581 of 2012.

features, fingerprints) for the purposes of identity verification, authentication and fraud prevention in the various solutions governed by these Terms and Conditions. In addition, a check box is incorporated independent of the general consent, through which the Owner expressly gives his authorization.
